FEW persons have an adequate conception of the extent of research and correspondence, or the amount of time and expense required for the collection of the material necessary for even a tolerably complete presentation of the history of a single family for eight generations.

For many years the writer has devoted such leisure moments as could be spared from the duties of an active professional life, to the work of gathering information respecting the numerous and widely dispersed posterity of his pilgrim ancestor, with the hope of being able, at some future day, to prepare a creditable history of the family.

The following pages contain a succinct, but fairly complete genealogy of Thomas Pope of Plymouth, and three generations of his descendants, in which, so far as possible, each line has been brought down to a date within the memory of persons yet living. It is quite impossible to continue the work much beyond this point without the coöperation of others, and it is principally with the hope of interesting others, and of securing their assistance in the work of collecting further material, that this publication is made.

It is therefore earnestly requested that every person of the name or lineage of Pope, into whose hands these pages may come, will communicate at once with the writer, and will send the name and address of every descendant within his knowledge, together with all accessible genealogical information respecting his own family and his immediate ancestors.

It is also desired that such persons will correct any errors or supply any omissions which may appear in the printed record, so far as may be in their power.

Inquiries respecting the history of the Pope family, in any of its branches, will receive due attention.

The writer wishes to express his grateful acknowledgments to many relatives and friends whose cordial sympathy and assistance have been of the utmost service in the prosecution of his work.

GENEALOGY OF THOMAS POPE OF PLYMOUTH.

THOMAS POPE is said by Savage to have been an inhabitant of New Plymouth in 1631, and to have been 67 years of age in 1675. Although the authorities for these dates have not been found, there is no reason to doubt their correctness. If born in 1608 he would have been 21 years of age in 1629, and it may be conjectured that he came to this country soon afterward. We are told in Blake's Annals of Dorchester, that

In y<sup>e</sup> year of our Lord 1629, Divers Godly Persons in Devonshire, Somersetshire, Dorsetshire & other places Proposed a remoue to New-England, among whom were two Famous Ministers, viz Mr. John Maverick (who I suppose was somewhat advanced in Age) and Mr. John Warham (I suppose a Younger Man) then a preacher in y<sup>e</sup> City of Exon or Exeter, in y<sup>e</sup> County of Devon. These good People met together at Plymouth, a Sea-port Town in y<sup>e</sup> S<sup>d</sup> County of Devon, in order to Ship themselves and Families for New England; and because they designed to liue together, after they should arriue here, they met together in the New Hospital in Plymouth and Associated into Church Fellowship and chose y<sup>e</sup> S<sup>d</sup> Mr. Mauerick and Mr. Warham to be their Ministers and Officers; the Rev. Mr. John White of Dorchester in Dorset (who was an active Instrument to promote y<sup>e</sup> Settlement of New England, and I think a means of procuring y<sup>e</sup> Charter) being present & Preaching ye fore part of ye Day and in y<sup>e</sup> latter part of y<sup>e</sup> Day they performed y<sup>e</sup> work aforesaid. . . . They set sail from Plymouth ye 20th of March, 1629-30,* . . . and arrived at Nantasket (now Hull) y<sup>e</sup> 30th of May 1630.

These colonists settled at Mattapan in June, 1630, and gave their settlement the name of Dorchester.

The surname of Pope was very common at that day, and is still common in Devon, Dorset and Somerset. It is not improbable that Thomas Pope and John Pope were among the passengers of the Mary and John. John was a freeman of Dorchester, September 3, 1634, and in his will (1646) he mentions a brother Thomas, who is supposed, with some reason, to be Thomas of Plymouth.* Another of the same surname known to have emigrated from England, was Joseph of Salem, 1634; there are also Walter of Charlestown, 1634, Thomas of Stamford, Conn., 1641, and John, who is listed as an emigrant to "Virginia" in 1635, aged 28. What relation, if any, existed between these different persons and Thomas of Plymouth, can only be conjectured. A family of the name settled in Kent as early as the reign of Edward III. (1327-77), among the Oxfordshire descendants of which were Sir Thomas Pope (died January 29, 1558-9), guardian of Queen Elizabeth during her minority. The continual recurrence of the names Thomas and John in the Kentish families, as well as among those bearing the surname in the west of England and in this country, would appear to indicate a common descent.

Of the life of Thomas Pope little is known beyond the brief entries which appear in the records of the town and colony of Plymouth, but these are sufficient to show that he was a man of positive character, and of some consideration in the community. His promptness in resenting a real or fancied injury, and his independent expressions of personal opinion, more than once caused him to be arraigned before the magistrates of New Plymouth, and no doubt ultimately led to his removal to Dartmouth, where he passed the last ten years of his life.

The records of the colony show that in the list of rates imposed by the Court, January 2, 1632-2, and again January 2, 1633-4, he was taxed 9s. October 6, 1636, he was granted five acres of land "at the fishing point next Slowly field, and said Thomas be allowed to build." June 7, 1637, we find his name among the list of persons who volunteered to go under "Mr. Prence" on an expedition against the Pequots. July 28, 1637, he was married by Gov. Winslow to Ann, daughter of Gabriel Fallowell. He sold his property at the fishing point to John Bonham August 29, 1640, perhaps on account of the death of his wife, the precise date of which event is unknown.

November 2, 1640, he was granted "5 acres of meadowing in South Meadows toward Gavans Colebrook meadows." His name appears in a list, August, 1634, entitled, "The names of all the males that are able to beare armes from XVI years old to 60 years wth in the seuerall Toune Shipps." He was chosen constable June 4, 1645, and was on a jury August, 1645. In 1646 he is found in Yarmouth. May 29, 1646, he married at Plymouth, Sarah, daughter of John Jenney. In 1647, June 1, an action for slander was brought against him, confessed, authors and defendants were

The results of Mr. Pope's personal researches into the history of the English Pope families are of great interest, and will be given in full in his work.

To the Descendants of Thomas Pope, the Pilgrim,

GREETING: Two hundred and eighty years ago, on English soil, our common ancestor was born. While it is a matter for regret that as yet we have no definite knowledge of his antecedents and immediate parentage, we may, at least, rejoice in the certainty that in his early manhood he chose to cast his lot with that band of pilgrim exiles beyond the sea, in whose feeble settlement on the shore of Plymouth the historian is now proud to recognize the promise and the potency of our grand Republic of to-day.

From the time of the appearance of our ancestor in Plymouth, in 1631, until his death in Dartmouth, in 1683, the few fragmentary incidents in his history which have escaped the ravages of time, give ample assurance that he was not only a man of marked ability and integrity, but of sturdy independence of thought and action; qualities by no means found wanting in his posterity to this day.

The descendants of Thomas Pope are very numerous, and appear to be widely dispersed. They are found in nearly every state, from Maine to California; but, wherever found, they bear an enviable reputation as good neighbors and good citizens, who enjoy and deserve the esteem of the communities in which they live.

To the end that we may testify our veneration for the memory of the progenitor of a race so respectable in numbers and so honorable in character; that we may rescue from unmerited oblivion the precious fragments of history and tradition, which yet remain to tell us of the labors, the sufferings and the achievements of our forefathers; that we may, by appropriate records, worthily perpetuate their honored memories; and lastly, that we may, by mutual acquaintance, strengthen those higher feelings of our own natures which have their origin in love of kindred, it is proposed to hold, in the summer or autumn of 1888, at or near New Berlin, Chenango County, N. Y., a General Convention of the Pope Family.

While it has been designed to address this call more especially to the descendants of the Plymouth ancestor, the Committee would say that the descendants of the Dorchester, Salem and Virginia Pope families are invited to accept our hospitality, and may one and all feel assured that they will meet with a cordial and fraternal welcome.

It is intended that a copy of this circular shall reach every family of the name and lineage of Pope. It is, therefore, especially desirable that each person receiving it will communicate at once with the General Secretary, and will also forward, at his earliest convenience, the names and addresses of all persons within his knowledge who are directly related, either by blood or marriage, with the family of Thomas Pope.

To all who reply, the programme of exercises and other information will be forwarded in due season.

All letters of inquiry addressed to the General Secretary will be answered as soon as practicable. It is suggested that correspondents give such particulars as may be accessible to them, of the full name, together with the date and place of birth of the earliest ancestor in the Pope line from whom they can trace their descent, as such information will greatly facilitate the labors of the family historian and of the Committee.

brought in equally guilty, and damages paid. He was chosen surveyor of highways July, 1648, and again June 6, 1651. In 1652, July 26, and in 1656, he is "on an Enquest." In "December, 1663, Thomas Pope and Gyles Rickard, Seni'r" were arrested "for breaking the King's peace by striking each other, and were fined each three shillings and four pence;" and "said Pope, his striking of said Rickards' wife, and for other turbulent carriages, in word and deed, the Court have centenanced him to find sureties for his good behavior." But nevertheless his temper soon got the better of him again, for we find him, February 7, 1664, and also May 2, 1665, quarrelling with one John Barnes about that fruitful subject of dispute, a boundary. He is recorded as having taken the freeman's oath in 1668. In 1670, June 7, he was again overhauled by the authorities, and as the record says, "fined 10 shillings for vilifying the ministry." Although he was now over 60 years old, these troubles doubtless influenced him in the determination to seek a new home, and accordingly we find him with others petitioning the Court in 1673 for a grant of land at Saconnett (now Little Compton, R. I.). For some reason not ascertained, this project was unsuccessful, for it appears in the record that he is "Granted leave since he and others cannot secure Saconnett neck according to the grant, to look out some other place, undisposed of, for their accommodation." Acting upon this permission, he secured a large tract on the east side of the Acushnet river at Dartmouth, tradition says by direct purchase from the Indians. This location, however, must have been included within the prior purchase made by Bradford, Standish and their associates, from the sachems Wesamequen and Wamsutta, on November 29, 1652, which had been, by order of the Court in June, 1664, erected into a separate township to "be henceforth called and known by the name of Dartmouth." At a meeting of the proprietors of this purchase, held in Plymouth March 7, 1652, the township was divided into thirty-four equal shares, and hence it seems likely that Thomas Pope may have acquired one of the shares. A list made in 1652 shows that his mother-in-law, "Mistris Jenney," was one of the Dartmouth proprietors, and two of her sons, Samuel and John Jenney, were among the early settlers of D. in the immediate vicinity of the Popes. Another original proprietor of Dartmouth was Robert Bartlett, whose son Joseph married, about 1662, Hannah, daughter of Thomas Pope by his first wife. The date of the removal of Thomas Pope to Dartmouth has not been ascertained, but it must have been about 1674. The settlement at Dartmouth was a scattered one, and for better security and defence against the Indians, who had already begun to evince a hostile disposition, a fort or garrison house was built on the east side of Acushnet river, about half a mile north of the village of Oxford, the remains of which were visible until a recent date, on the lands of John M. Howland.

In the early part of July, 1675, his son John, a young man of 22, his daughter Susannah and her husband Ensign Jacob Mitchell, were killed by a party of Philip's Indians, "early in the morning as they were fleeing on horseback to the garrison, whither the Mitchell children had been sent the afternoon before" (GEN. REG. xv. 266). This occurrence took place near the "frog pond" on the south side of Spring Street, between William and Walnut, Fairhaven. The settlement at Dartmouth being isolated, scattered and difficult of defence, was shortly abandoned, and the deserted plantations were quickly laid waste and the buildings burned by the savages.

The following order of Court passed by the government at Plymouth, is of interest here :

[1675, 4th of October.] This Court, takeing into their serious consideration the tremendous dispensations of God towards the people of Dartmouth, in suffering the barbarous heathen to spoile and destroy most of their habitations, the enimie being greatly advantaged therevnto by their scattered way of liueing, doe therefore order, that in the rebuilding or resettling therof, that they soe order it as to liue compact together, at least in each village, as they may be in a capacitie both to defend themselues from the assault of an enimie, and the better to attend the publicke worship of God, and minnistry of the word of God, whose carelesnes to obtaine and attend vnto, wee fear, may haue bine a prouocation of God thus to chastise their contempt of his gospell, which wee earnestly desire the people of that place may seriously consider off, lay to hart, and be humbled for, with a sollicitus indeauor after a reformation thereof by a vigorous putting forth to obtaine an able, faithfull dispenser of the word of God amongst them, and to incurrage him therein, the neglect whereof this Court as they must not, and, God willing, they will not permit for the future.*

No attempt appears to have been made for some three years to reoccupy the ruined settlement. Where Thomas Pope and his family found an asylum during this time, has not been ascertained. The following extract from the Plymouth records perhaps serves to throw a glimmer of light upon this question :

Wheras Phillip, late sachem of Paukanakett, and other sachems, his accomplies, haueing bin in confederation and plighted couenant with his ma<sup>ties</sup> collonie of New Plymouth, haue lately broken couenant with the English, and they and their people haue likewise broken out in open rebellion against our sou<sup>r</sup> lord Kinge Charles, his crowne and dignitie, expressed by raising a crewell and vnlawfull warr, murdering his leich people, destroying and burning their houses and estates, expressing great hostillitie, outrage, and crewelty against his said ma<sup>ties</sup> subjects, wherby many of them were psonally slaine, and some bereaued of their deare children and relations, among which said rebels an Indian named Popanooie is found to be one, who hath had a hand, and is found to be very actiue in the great crewelty and outrage acted vpon seuerall of the inhabitants of the towne of Dartmouth, in the said his ma<sup>ties</sup> collonie of New Plymouth, in p̄ticular it being manifest that hee was very active towards and about the destruction of seuerall of the children of Thomas Pope, late of Dartmouth aforsaid, and seuerall others of the said towne; in consideration wherof after due examination had of the p̄mises, this Court doth hereby condemne and centance him, the said Popanoocie, and his wife and children, to p̄petuall seruitude, they likewise being found coēptenor with him in the said rebellion, and p̄ticularly that hee, the said Popanoocie, is to be sold and sent out of the country. [July 13, 1677.]

It appears also that about a year previous to this (June 12, 1676), several Indians who had been captured and sent in by Bradford and Church were "convented before the councell" at Plymouth, being "such of them as were accused of working vnsufferable mischieffe upon some of ours."

One of these prisoners, named John-num, being accused by his fellows, acknowledged, among other misdeeds, that he was concerned in the murder of "Jacob Mitchell and his wife and John Pope, and so centance of death was pronounced against them, which accordingly emediately was ekecuted."*

The following order of Court relating to the resettlement of Dartmouth explains itself.

To John Cooke, to be cōmunicated to such of the former Inhabitants of Dartmouth as are concerned herein.

The councell being now assembled, considering the reason and necessitie of that order of the Generall Court made the 14th October, 1675, respecting the rebuilding or resettleing the Towne of Dartmouth, a copy wheof is herewith sent, and considering withall that all the people of that place, by their deserting it, haue left it to the posession of the enimie, which, through the good hand of God on the indeauors of this colonie is now recouered againe out of the enimies hand, do soe much the more look at it as a duty incombent on this councel to see the said order effectually attended, doe therefore hereby prohibite all and euery of the former inhabitants of the said towne of Dartmouth, or their or any of their assigns, to make any entrance on, building, or settleing in any p̄te of the said former townshipp of Dartmouth vntill satisfactory eccuritie be first given to the Court or councel by some of the principal p̄sons heretofore belonging to that place, that the said Court order shall in all respects be attended by them, as the transgressors of the prohibition will answare the contrary att their pill. †

Of the subsequent history of Thomas Pope little is known beyond what may be gathered from his will, which is as follows :

1683. July the 9th. The last will and testament of Thomas Pope, being Aged and weak of body but yet in perfect understanding and memory wherein I have of my estate as followeth ; I give unto my son Seth as an addition to what I have formerly given him ten shillings in money also I give unto my grandson Thomas Pope all that my twenty-five acres of upland and two acres of meadow lying and being on the west side of Acushnet River be it more or less, and it is my desire that his father may take the said land into his hands and make the best improvement of it that he can for the good of my said grandson until he comes of age to make use of it himself; also it is my mind that my son Seth shall in consideration of the aforesaid land pay three pounds sterling unto my grandson Jacob Mitchell when he comes to age of twenty one years. Also I give unto my daughter Deborah Pope five pound in money, and to each of my other daughters five pound a peace in money; also my meddow lying at the south Meddowes in Plymouth or the value of it, I give to be equally divided amongst all my sons and daughters; also I give and bequeath unto my son Isack all my seate of land where I now dwell with all the meddowes belonging thereunto and all the privilages thereunto belonging. To him his heirs and Assigns forever, but and if it should please god that he should decease without an heir before he comes to the age of twenty and one years, then my said seat of land shall belong unto the sons of my son Seth. Also I give unto my son Isaack all my housing and household goods of all sorts, also all my cattle and horse kine and swine; Also all sorts of provisions, also cart and plowes with all the takeling belonging unto them. Also I give unto my said son Isaack all my money except that which I have given to my daughters, and I order my said son Isaack to pay all my just debts and to receive all my debts that are due unto me also I order my Indian Lydia to live with my son Isaack until he is one and twenty years of age, and my Indian gerle I give to him during his life, also it is my mind and will that my son Isaack shall make no bargain without the consent of his overseers until he be twenty years of age, I have made choice of John Cook, and my son Seth and Thomas Taber to be for overseers to see this my will performed. THOMAS POPE his J mark.

Signed and sealed in presence of
and Thomas Tabor.

Isaac and Seth Pope took out letters of administration on the estate November 2, 1683; which approximately fixes the date of the death of Thomas. They gave bonds in £400.

The homestead farm conveyed by the above will to Isaac Pope, contained 172 acres, and comprised the larger portion of the thickly-settled portion of the present town of Fairhaven. Its north line was a little south of the south line of the street leading east from the bridge.

Before the Acushnet cemetery was laid out, which was during the reign of Queen Anne, about 1711, an acre of the Taber farm, half a mile or more north of the bridge, on a point of land projecting into the river, had been set apart for a burial ground, and it is there that Thomas Pope was probably buried.

In the following genealogy, in cases where the state is not given, Massachusetts is to be understood.

SETH<sup>2</sup> POPE (Thomas<sup>1</sup>), b. in Plymouth, Jan. 13, 1648; d. in Dartmouth, March 17, 1727. The records give no information concerning his early history. Tradition, in part confirmed by the records, says that about 1670 he appeared as a pedler in Sandwich, whereupon the constable, in pursuance of a regulation then in force, ordered him to depart, lest in future he might become a charge upon the town. He accordingly withdrew, taking occasion, however, to remark that he would yet come back and buy up the town. Procuring a boat at Monument, he followed the coast round to Acushnet, where he settled within the present limits of Fairhaven, and by his industry, energy and skilful business management ultimately became one of the most wealthy and influential citizens of the old colony. 1678-9, March 8, an allowance was ordered by the Court to be made him for expenses and time returning guns to the Indians after Philip's war; 1685, June 2, was chosen selectman of Dartmouth; 1686, March 4, took the oath of fidelity; June 2, again chosen selectman; June 4, commissioned lieutenant. He was chosen representative from Dartmouth to the General Court at Plymouth in 1689 and 1690; magistrate for Bristol County, July 7, 1691, and justice of the peace in Dartmouth, May 27, 1692. He is named as one of the fifty-six proprietors of Dartmouth in the confirmatory deed of Gov. Bradford in 1694. June 12, 1695, he appeared in Boston in behalf of his townsmen, to urge an abatement of taxes. He appears to have been for many years largely interested in the coastwise trade, and had a wharf and warehouse at Acushnet. In 1698 he was part owner of the sloop Hopewell, and in 1709 of the sloop Joanna and Thankful. In 1700, by way of fulfilment of his pro-

He married first (date and place unknown), Deborah — (born 1655, died Feb. 19, 1711), and second (date and place unknown), Rebecca — (born 1662, died Jan. 23, 1741). Children of Seth and Deborah, born in Dartmouth except the first and perhaps the second:

He must have died some years prior to 1720, as in that year his widow is mentioned in his father's will as "my former daughter-in-law, now wife of Lt. John Chipman of Sandwich."
